

Application Internal glazed doors offering fire; security and acoustic separation in both swing and sliding applications

Education; Health; Office Refurbishment; New Build and Retail

The function of a door will dictate the selection of infill material and hardware. Glass can be considered for most performance requirements when used in conjunction with the appropriate framing system.

Fendor SwingLine range of doors can provide designers with a flexible and functional solution with the inherent strength of the steel profiles.